

Shower and toilet facilities in an Outback Spirit support vehicle in the Simpson Desert.

Seven Spirit Bay in the Northern Territory.

In Outback Spirit's benchmark 13-day Arnhem Land Wilderness Adventure, with groups limited to a maximum of 22 travellers, there's culture and art, interpretations of landscape, flora and fauna. It is from $14,495 in September 2024, $15,495 in May and August, and $15,995 in June and July.

Travel is in an all-terrain Mercedes-Benz 4WD coach — a key vehicle in Outback Spirit's $30 million fleet.

All over Australia

KIMBERLEY TO QUEENSLAND

Just as Outback Spirit has developed lodges and camps in the Northern Territory, it also specialises in the Kimberley, where it has Bungle Bungle Savannah Lodge, Ngauwudu Safari Camp and uses accommodation at Drysdale River Station. And the other area it really specialises in is Queensland, with Moreton Wilderness Lodge, Lotusbird Lodge and Pungalina Safari Camp.

DESERT SAFARIS
I also really like its desert safaris. Its luxury convoys travel the Canning Stock Route, Simpson Desert and Binns Track in those Mercedes-Benz G-Wagon expedition vehicles. Each convoy has three

G-Wagons, with good legroom and visibility, and two four-wheel drives in support. Each passenger has a full-sized coach seat and there are daily seat rotations.

The 16-day expedition is limited to 18 guests — a maximum of six in each vehicle, as it covers the four Western Australian deserts between Halls Creek in the Kimberley and Wiluna in the Goldfields. It is from $15,155 per person.

SOUTH WEST TO TASMANIA
Outback Spirit also tours in more temperate zones — from South Australia and its Eyre Peninsula and Kangaroo Island, to Tasmania and back here in the South-West of WA. Of these, the Tasmanian Wilderness Explorer stands out for me. It does a 12-day lap of the island, from Hobart to Port Arthur, Freycinet National Park, Cradle Mountain and Strahan, but throwing in less visited spots like Cape Grim. It's from $8975 per person.

■ Just as Outback Spirits works with locals on the ground where it tours, it works with travel agents. At the launch it emphasised the importance of its relationship with them.
